DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because for example the boxes in Figure 9 are crowded and difficult to read since it is hand written. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 11, 13-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Huber et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,327,014).

As to claims 11, 20, Huber et al. disclose a method for triggering restraint devices, in which at least one collision indicating signal is generated, the method comprising: from a moment that a collision is detected, specifying temporally defined crash phrases; for every crash phase, a crash type and an crash severity being determined from the signal; and triggering appropriate ones of the restraint devices as a function of at least one of the crash severity and the crash type (See abstract; col. 5, lines 55-66).

As to claims 13-15, 16, 17-19, Huber et al. disclose the crash type is determined for every crash phase and for different possible crash types, the at least one signal is analyzed, and results of the analyses are combined with one another to determine the crash type; and an algorithm to determine the crash severity (See 5, lines 55-66; col. 8, lines 12-20); Huber et al. disclose in sensors and signal used check the triggering (See abstract); Huber et al. disclose a measuring unit as shown in the figure wherein one would use such measuring unit for performing evaluation with specific thresholds and continuously.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Huber et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,327,014) in view of Bischoff et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,742,916).

As to claims 12, Huber et al. disclose all but fail to specifically disclose the crash phases are defined as a function of the vehicle type vehicle type. In an analogous art, Bischoff et al. disclose a system for protecting vehicle occupants wherein it discloses the crash phases are defined as a function of the vehicle type (col. 17, lines 46-64). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the system of Huber et al. with that of Bischoff et al. by having the crash phases defined as a function of the vehicle type in order to use an algorithm to trigger the system.
